

OPTIMIST

Dedication

THE 1994 OPTIMIST is dedicated to all of the people who, along our rocky road to our high school graduation, encouraged us to keep going.

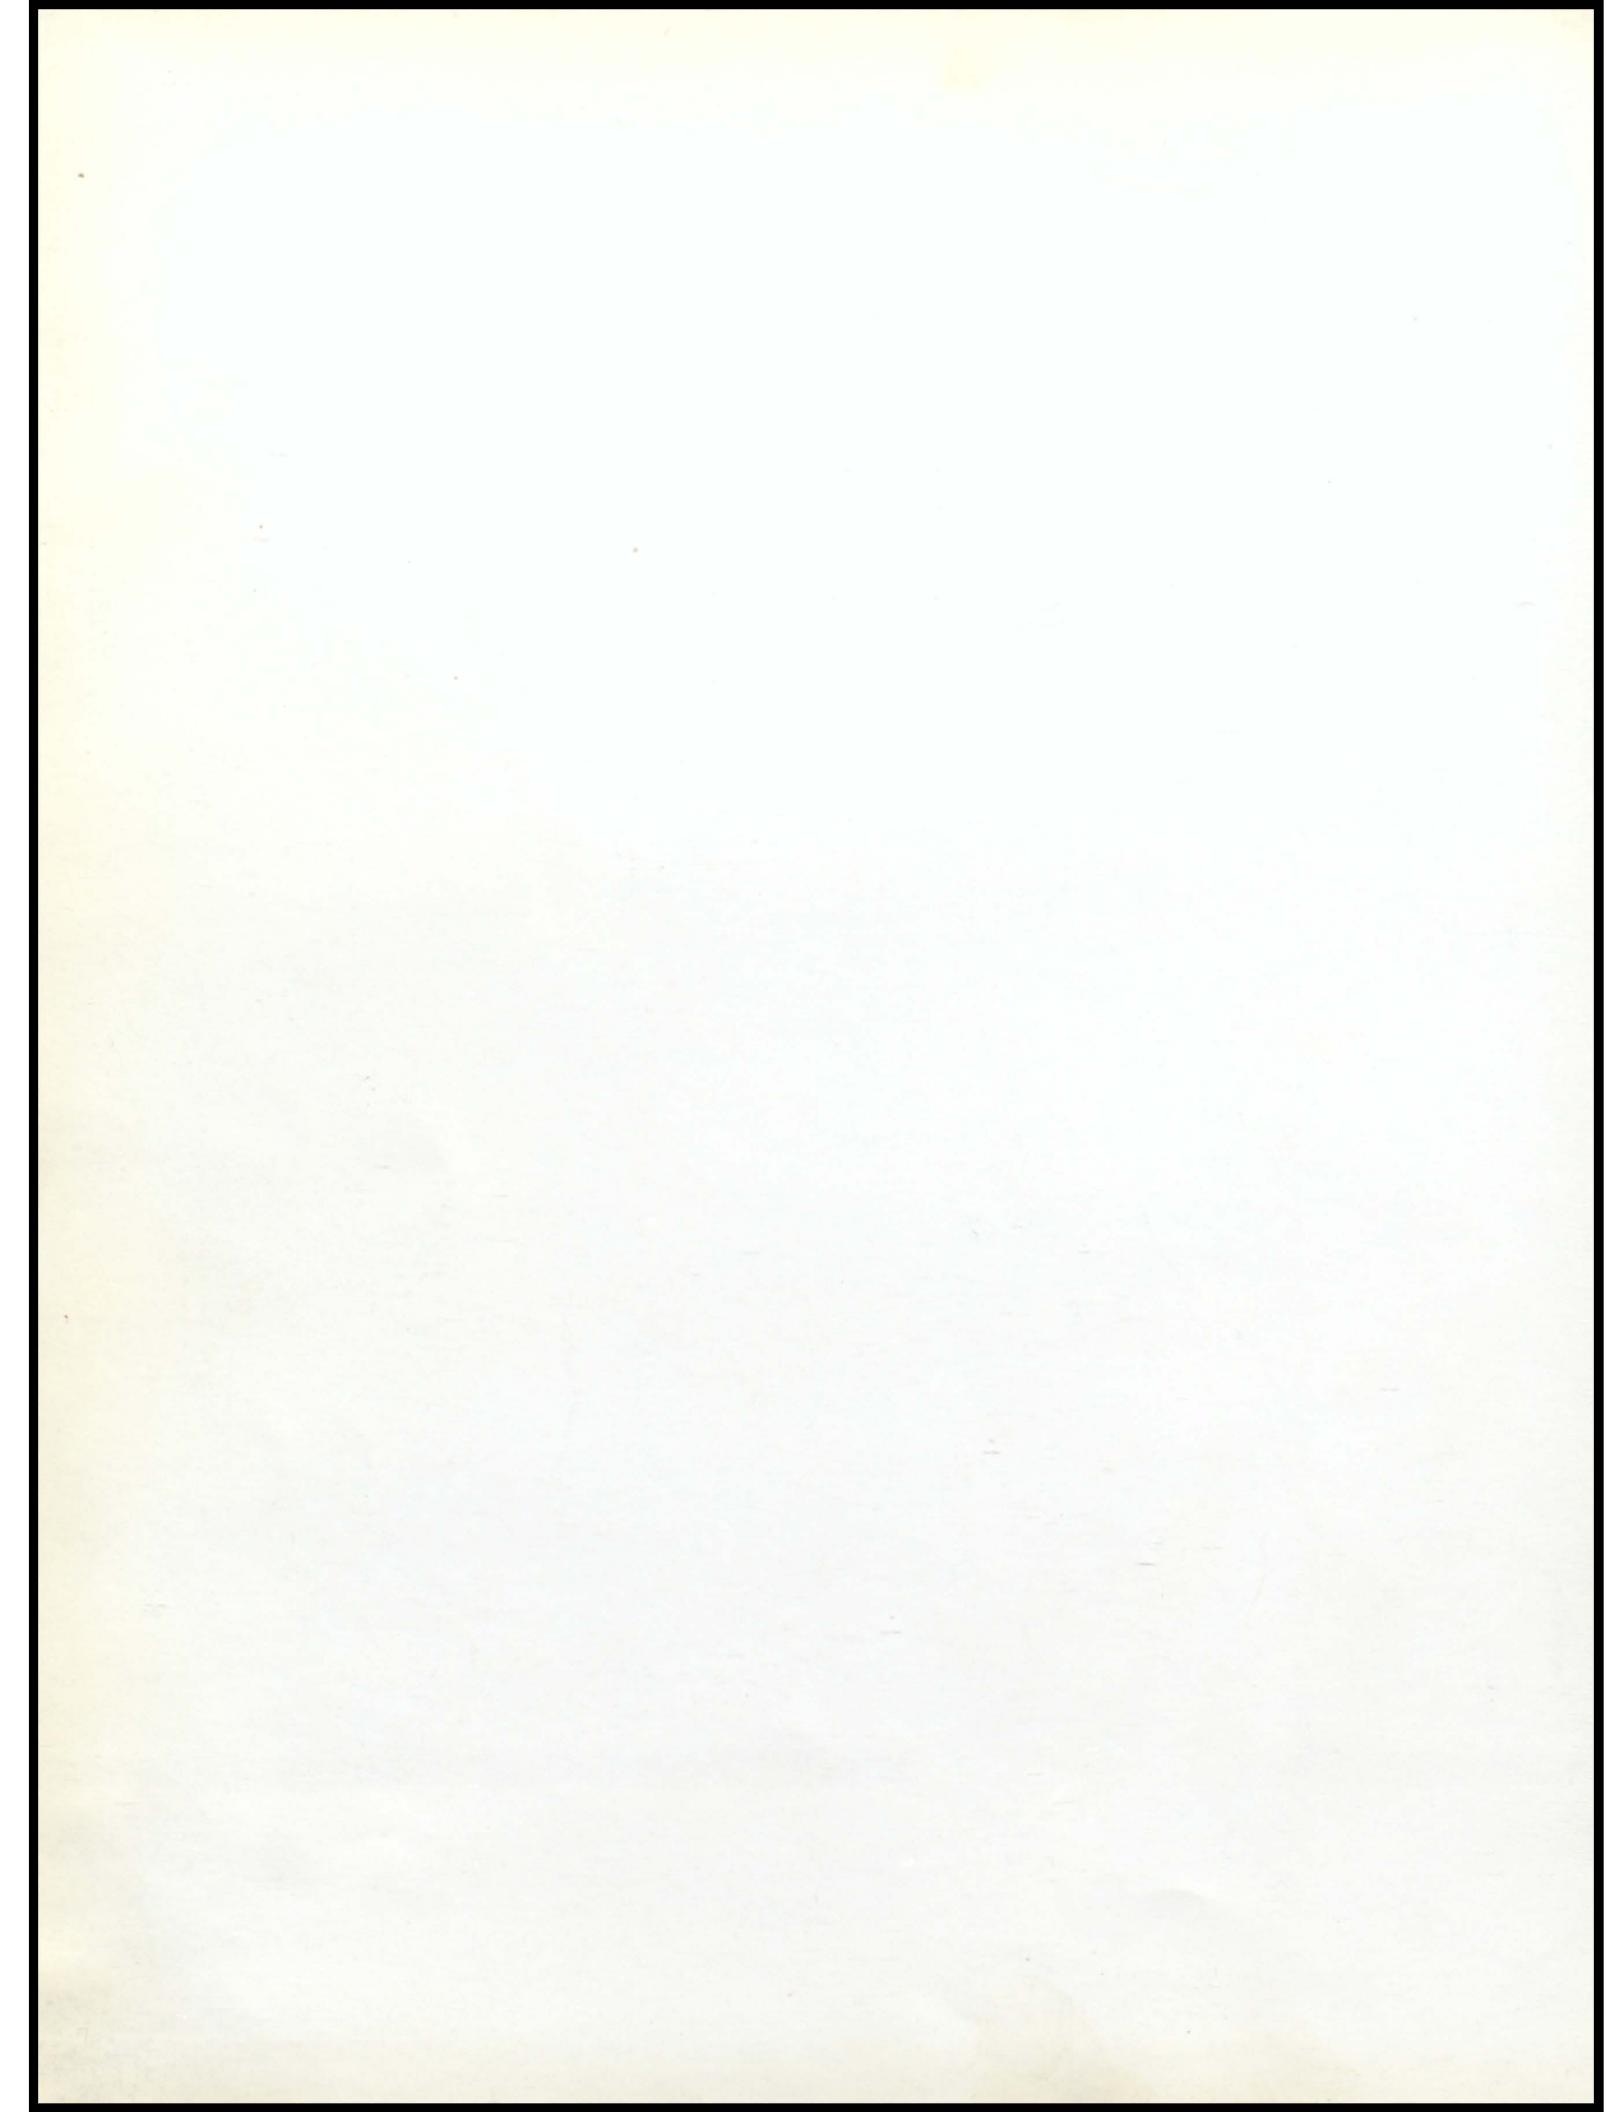

WE CANNOT DENY that it was you who gave us the extra push we needed to continue our education.

TO THE TEACHER, the preacher, to the mother, the father, to the sister, the brother, to the relative, the friend, to the administrator, to the guidance counselor — it is to you that we bestow our thanks. It is to you that we show our appreciation. If it had not been for all of you, we don't know where all of us might have ended up.

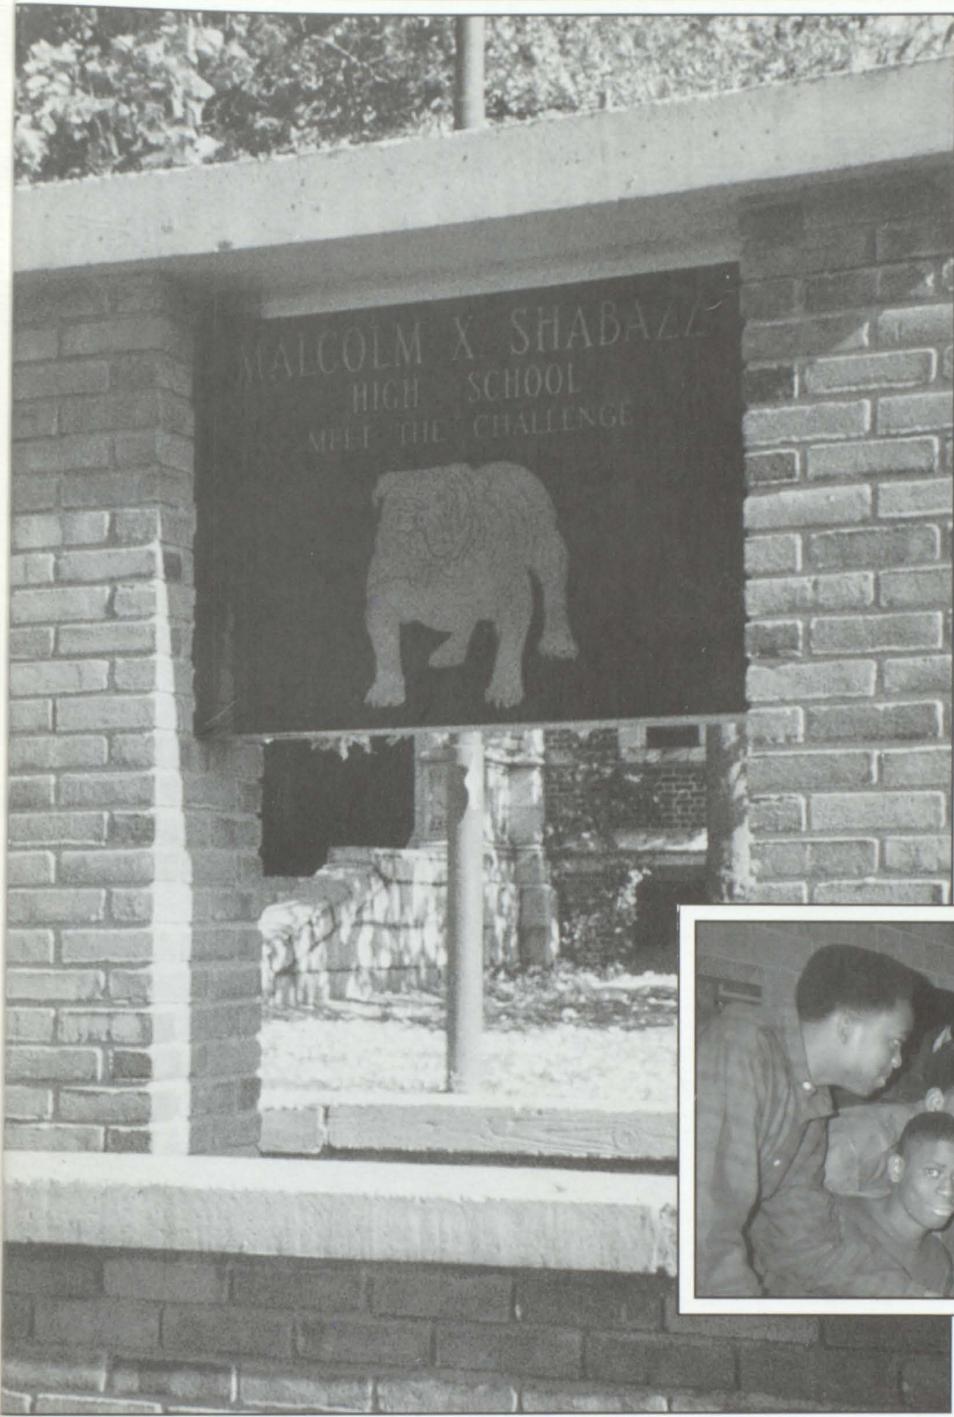

IT IS BEYOND our reasoning to understand why you came into our life. But, we are happy that you entered that life. This, then, is for all of the best friends, the aunts, the uncles and the grans who have meant something to us. In dedicating our Yearbook to you, we say "thank you" to everyone who has come along and done something to make a difference in our lives.

Thank You!

Celebrating Diversity

Welcome

Get ready to take a journey in time and space through our entire year. A year of many friendships gained none were ever lost. We've made some changes, accomplished a few things and had fun in the process.

As you see into our world, remember that we could soon be your colleagues and your bosses. But we will always be your children, your sisters, your brothers, and your friends. Though our high school years are unending we will always remain a part of each other.

So go ahead and begin your dances and as you do we want to say, "Have fun!"

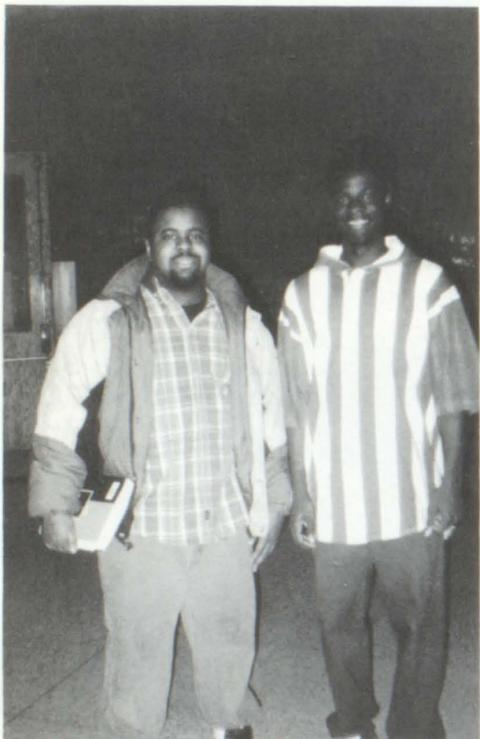

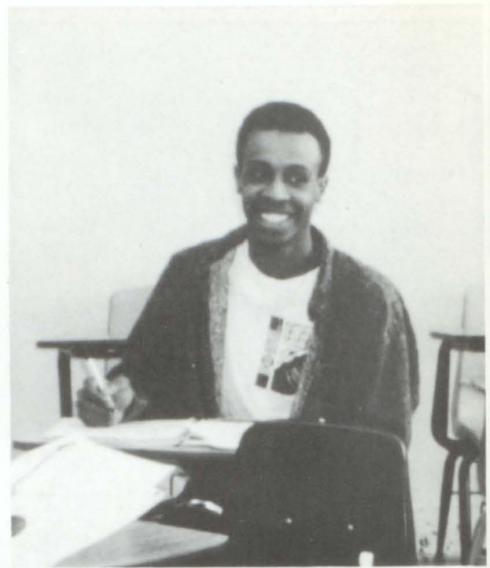

Senior Nicole Wilson reaches out to make a point in Chemistry class.

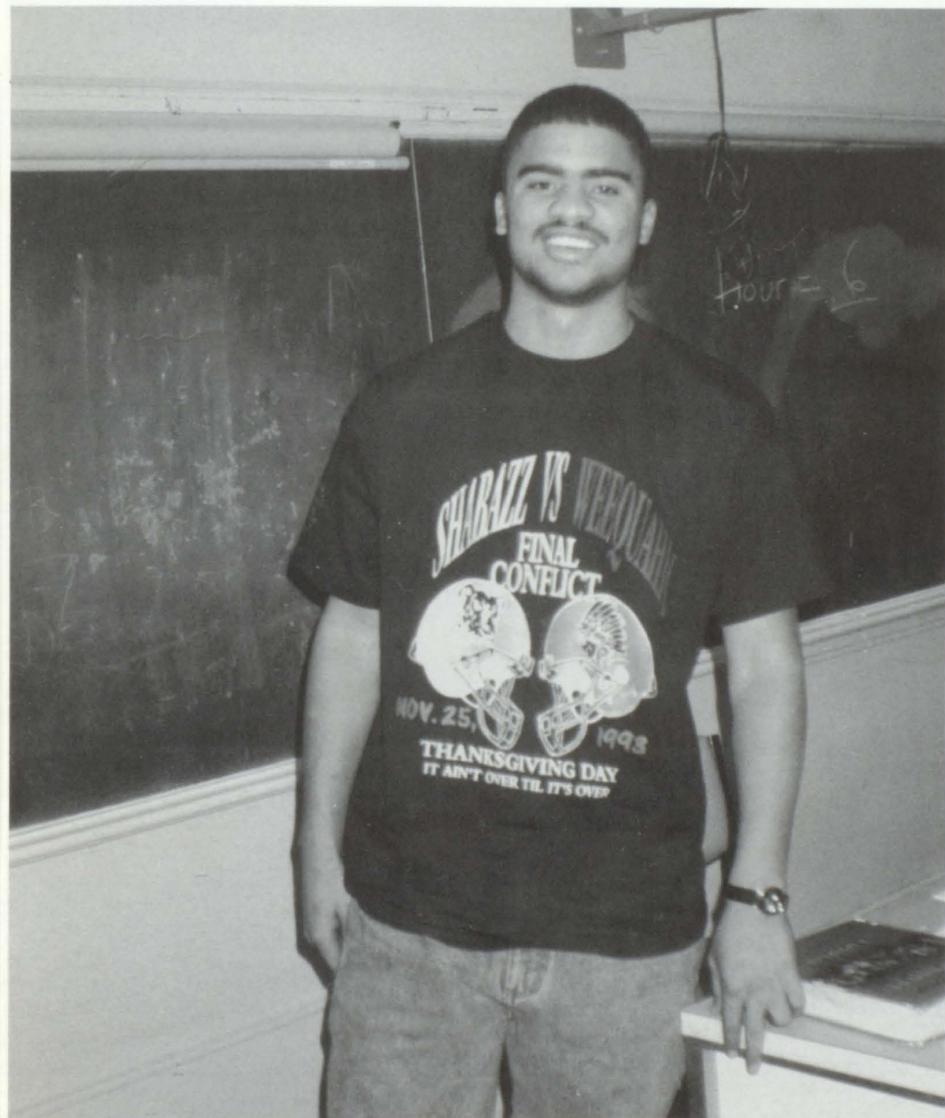

Mark Lawson has money on his mind as he participates in a discussion at a Stock Market club meeting.

Latasha has a smile for us.

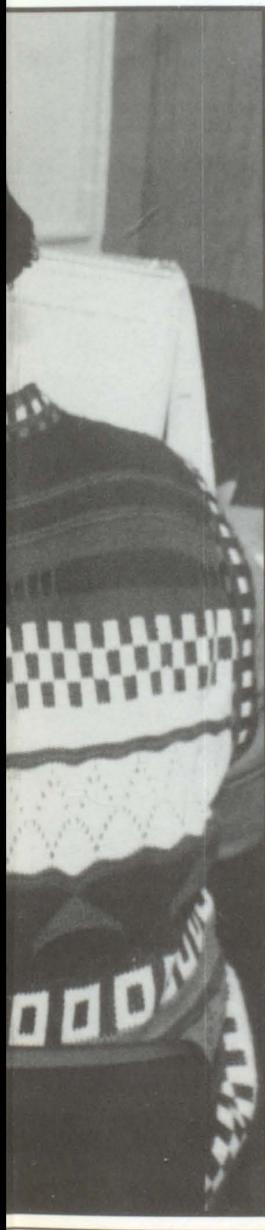

Now what could be on Tanya Amos's mind?

Irving Callender shows off his T-shirt from the last in a long tradition of Shabazz-Weequahic Thanksgiving football games.

Evon and Nafeezah try to pull an "A" on one of Ms. Watson's Health exams.

My senior year friend

Our time together is quickly coming to an end.
We are all about to leave, but as we say good-bye, we leave a part of ourselves with each other.

When we began we started without a clue.

But now we have the major pieces of the puzzle together.

As we start out on this road we will always remember our friends.

People who after a while, not all of a sudden, became a friend.

As we say so long we leave behind building but take with us the memories.

Though the road we travel may have bumps in it our tracks will always start here.

The teachers, and principals, the guidance counselors and other staff have played a major role in our development.

As we the young birds develop our wings and learn to fly with the knowledge that you as our mentors have bestowed upon us,

We can soar above the clouds, and beyond the stars past all that we know and feel to be reality.

For all of you never let the last words we say be good-bye just "see you later."

It has been said that every generation of children gets better than the one before. Our generation has proven itself beyond the call of duty many times. We have proven that we are worthy of carrying the torch.

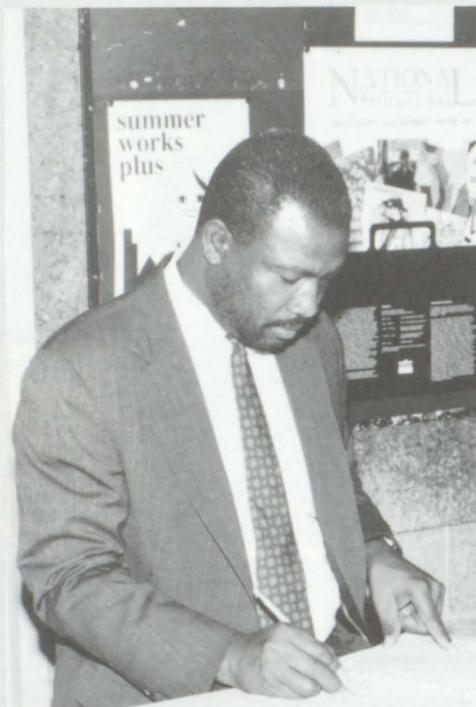

Though at times our attitudes may make us seem as though we have no respect for those who are our elders. But it's just the opposite in our life — we have felt that we must keep up our guard in order to survive. We are, however, beginning to realize that education is an important part of survival.

Malcolm X, Dr. King, Shirley Chisholm, Angela Davis, and Dr. Betty Shabazz have all stated — and restated — that education must always come first. If, as Malcolm said, education is our passport to tomorrow, let us grab onto it with both hands and make it take us wherever we wish to go.

In Memoriam

Mr. Phillip Richards
Teacher and Friend

“FAREWELL”

I once heard an old man say “I always thought I would leave before my children”, He wasn’t speaking of a trip or a journey to the store. He was referring to life. “I’m old, he stated, I’ve lived my years, good or bad, wrong or indifferent, I’ve been blessed to have lived this long, but, my child had not experienced life, he still had many good years left!”

The irony is that God makes no mistakes, I told the man, you may still have something to give back, you may not have achieved what is needed, but whether old or young, we are placed here for a purpose, to brighten lives, to make a difference in some way, those who live short lives when we look back on their lives have given what God feels is what they were placed here to do.

Some achieve the ultimate goal of goodness — far earlier than many of us ever will. I knew Jonas Cannady only a short time but in that short time I liked the man, I liked the person who cared, who helped in so many ways, who to me gave back to our kids what some in a lifetime will never give back. Jonas made a difference. I will remember him. His grin, his fast paced walk, his way of talking. Jonas you did make a difference and you achieved what the old man had not.

You touched many lives and God felt your work was excellent and that you had achieved what you were placed here to do.

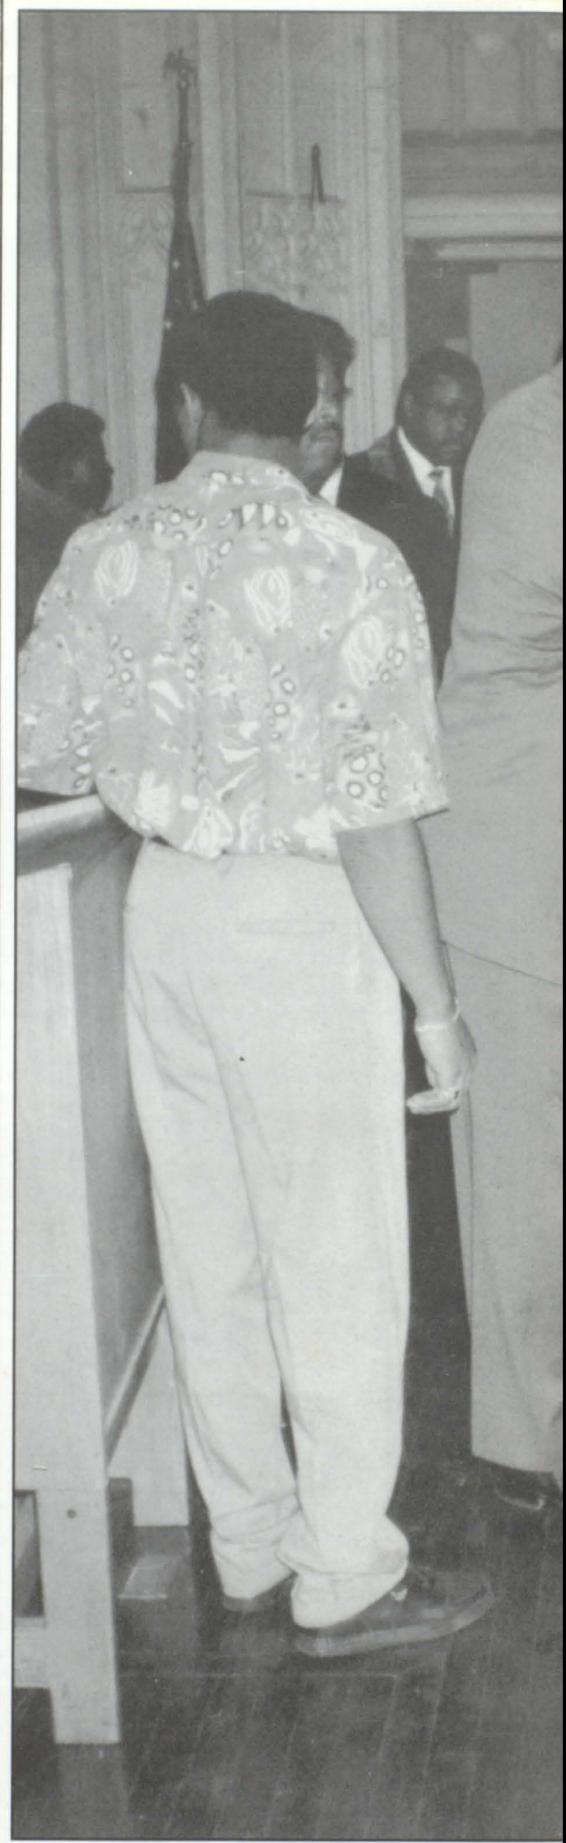

I will miss you,

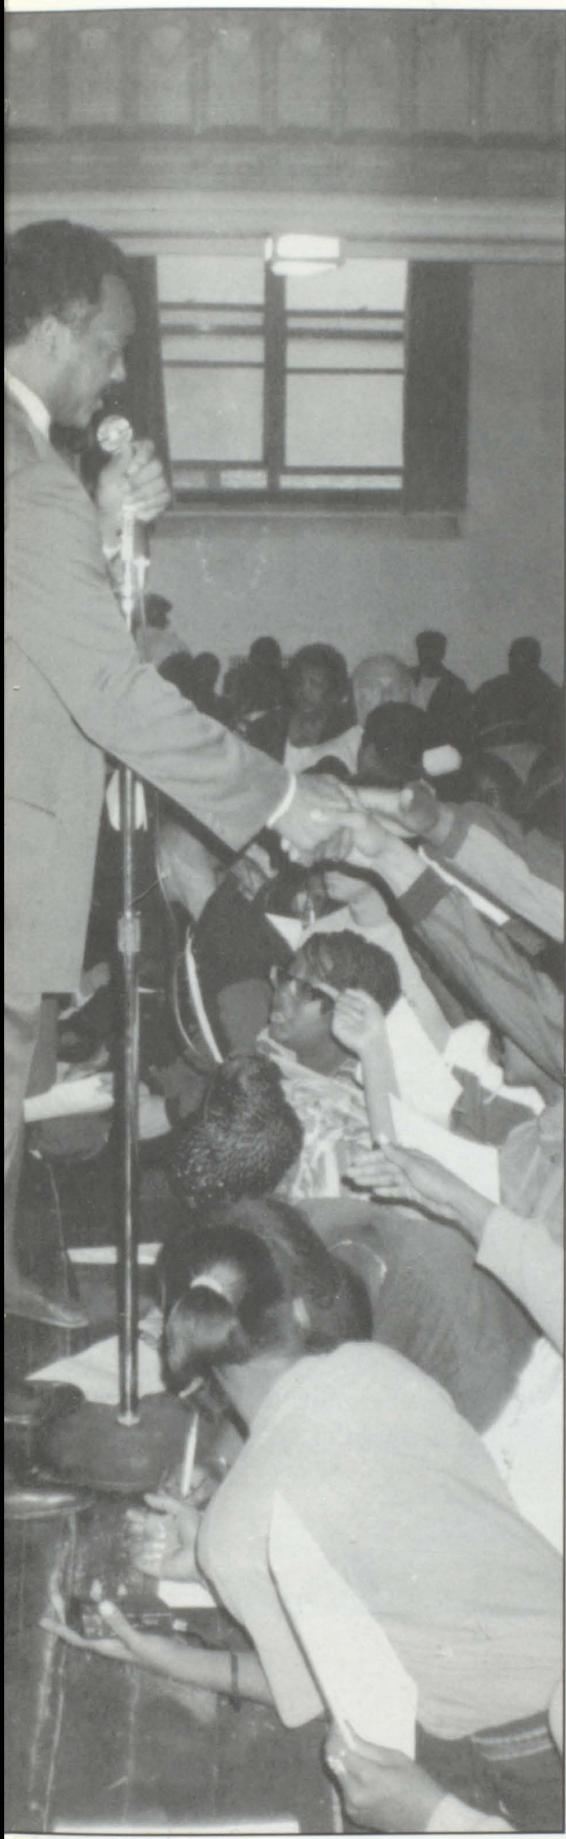

“Farewell”

“Lift Every Voice and Sing”

Lift every voice and sing
Till earth and heaven ring
Ring with the Harmonies of liberty.
Let our rejoicing rise
High as the listening skies
Let it resound
Loud as the rolling sea.
Sing a song full of the faith that the dark past has taught us.
Sing a song full of the hope that the present has brought us.
Facing the rising sun
of our new day begun
Let us march on Till victory is won!

"OUR SHINING BLACK PRINCE" BY OSSIE DAVIS

Here at this final hour, in this quiet place, Harlem has come to bid farewell to one of its brightest hopes — extinguished now, and gone from us forever.

For Harlem is where he worked and where he struggled and fought — his home of homes, where his heart was, and where his people are — and it is, therefore, most fitting that we meet once again — in Harlem — to share these last moments with him.

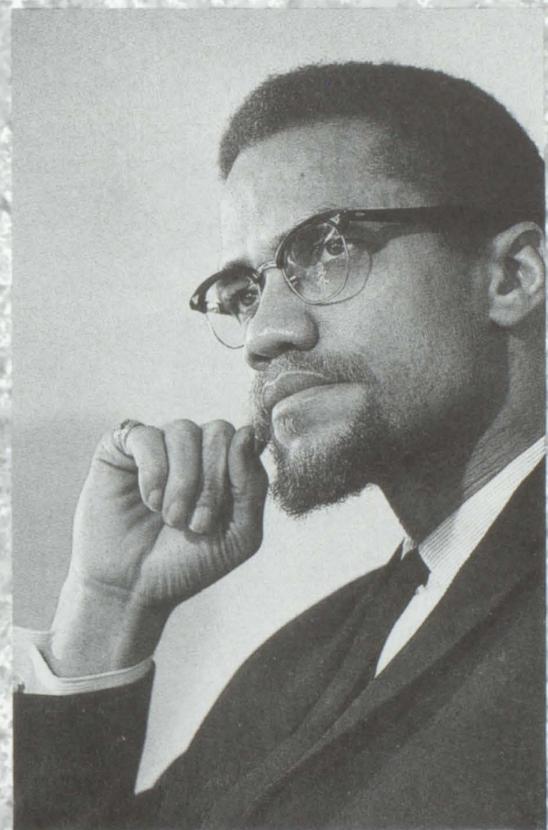

There are those who will consider it their duty, as friends of the Negro people, to tell us to revile him, to flee, even from the presence of his memory, to save ourselves by writing him out of the history of our turbulent times.

Many will ask what Harlem finds to honor in this stormy, controversial and bold young captain — and we will smile. Many will say turn away — away from this man, for he is not a man but a demon, a monster, a subverter, and an enemy of the Black man — and we will smile.

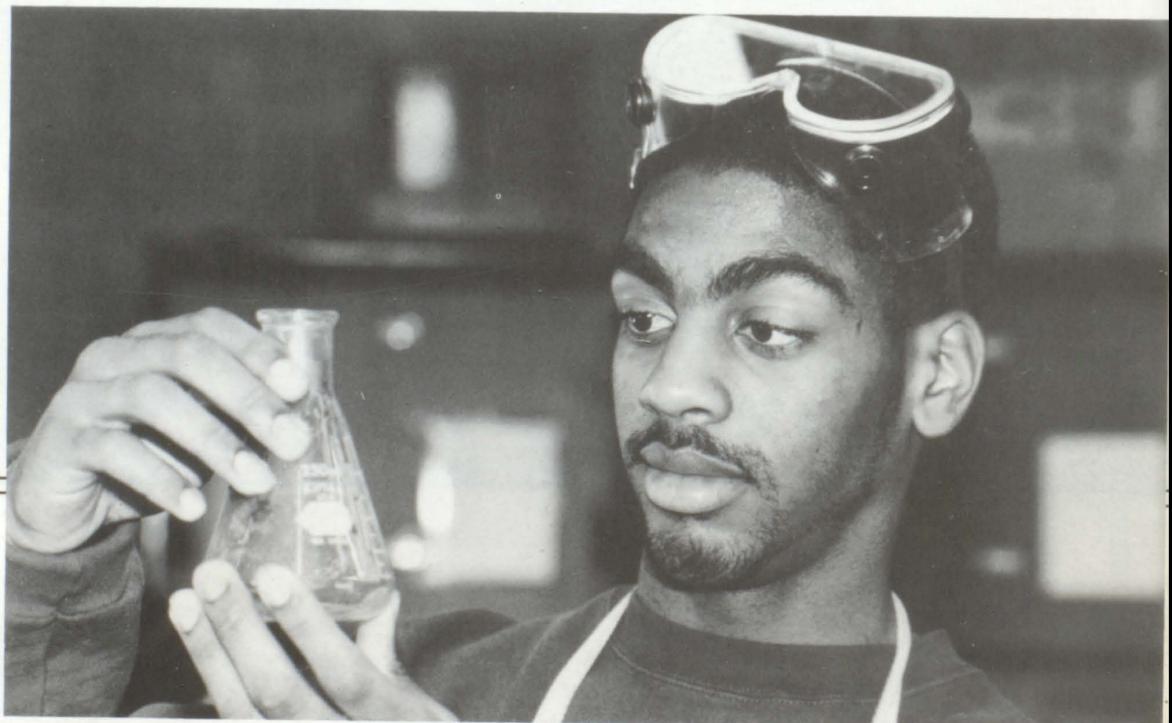

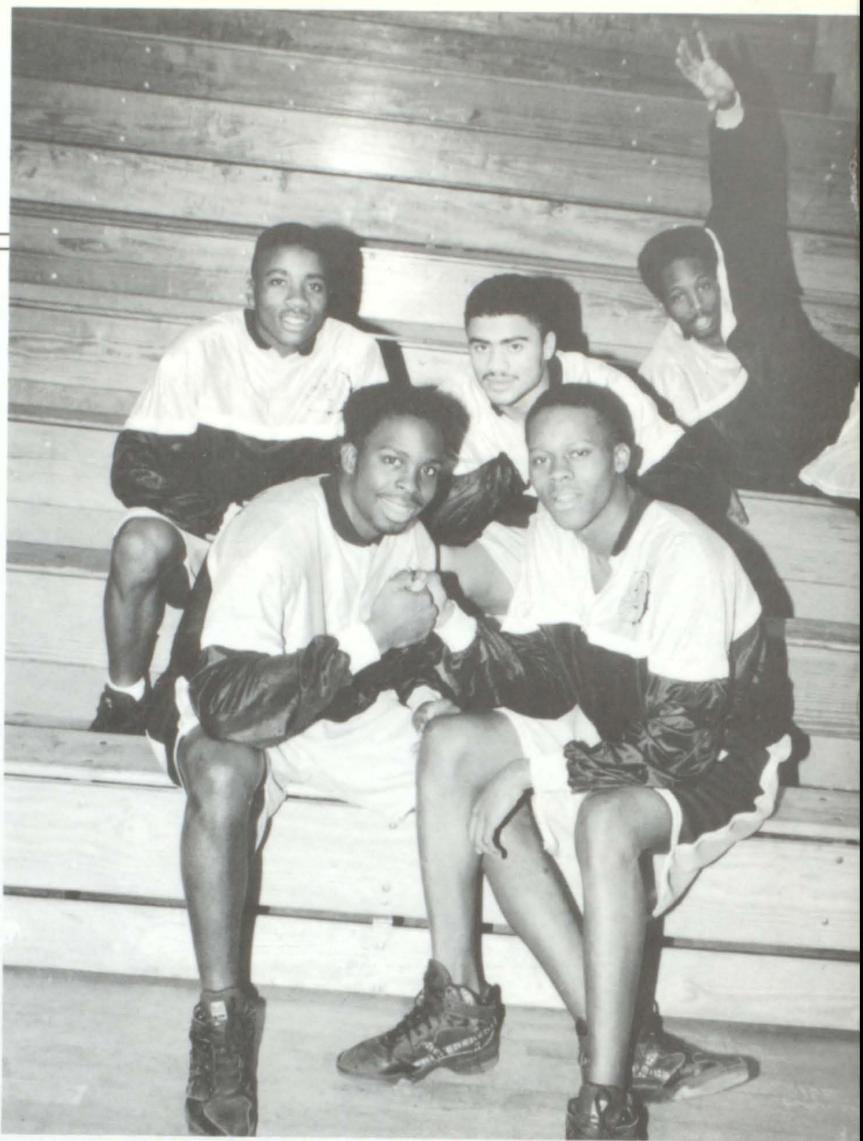

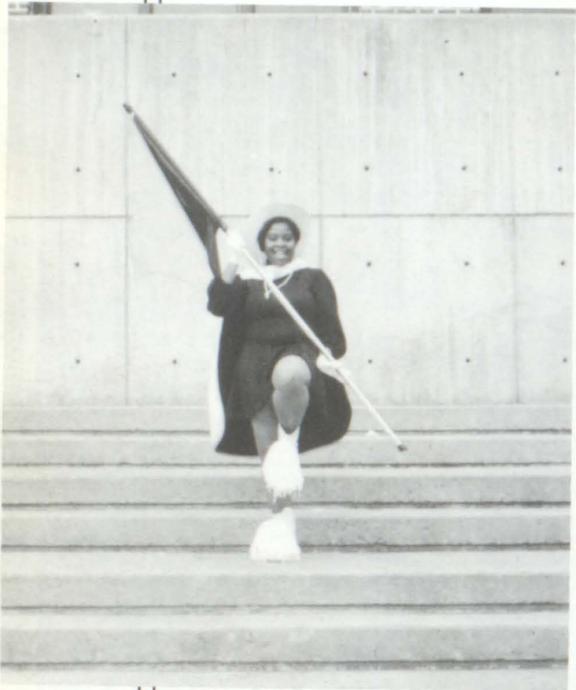

They will say that he is of hate — a fanatic, a racist — who can only bring evil to the cause for which we struggle!

And we will answer and say unto them: Did you ever talk to Brother Malcolm? Did you ever touch him, or have him smile at you? Did you ever really listen to him? Did he ever do a mean thing? Was he himself ever associated with violence or any public disturbance? For if you did, you would know him. And if you knew him, you would know why we must honor him: Malcolm was our manhood, our living Black manhood! This was his meaning to his people. And in honoring him, we honor the best in ourselves.

However much we may have differed from him — or with each other about him and his value as a man — let his going from us serve only to bring us together, now. Consigning these mortal remains to earth, the common mother of all, secure in the knowledge that what we place in the ground is no more now a man — but a seed — which, after the winter of our discontent, will come forth again to meet us. And we will know him then for what he was and is — a Prince — our own Black shining Prince! — who didn't hesitate to die, because he loved us so.

IF THE 1990's IS THE DECADE OF THE WOMAN, THEN THIS SPEECH BY BEAH RICHARDS, THOUGH GIVEN IN THE EARLY 1950'S FOR A WHITE WOMANS ORGANIZATION "WOMEN FOR PEACE", FIT IN WITH NO PROBLEM. AS YOU READ THE SPEECH, LISTEN TO ITS EMOTION. ONLY THEN WILL YOU UNDERSTAND WHY IT SO SURELY FITS THE DECADE OF THE WOMAN.

"A BLACK WOMAN SPEAKS"

It is right that I, a woman
Black,
should speak of white womanhood.
My husbands,
my fathers,
my brothers,
my sons,
die for it,
because of it.
And their blood,
chilled in electric chairs stopped by hangman's noose cooked by lynch mobs' fire spilled by white supremacists' desire to kill for profit,
gives me that right.

I would that I could speak of white womanhood
as it will and should be,
when it stands tall in full equality.
But then, womanhood will be womanhood,
void of color and class,
and all necessity for my speaking thus will be past.
Gladly past.
But now, since it is deemed a thing apart supreme!
I must in searching honesty report
how it seems to me.

White womanhood stands in bloodied shirt
and in slavery,
reaching out adulterous hands killing mine and crushing me.
When then is this superior thing that in order to be sustained must needs feed upon my flesh?
How came this horror to be?
Let's look to history.
They said, the white supremacists said,
that you were better than me.
That your fair brow would never know
the sweat of slavery.
They lied!
White womanhood too is enslaved;
the difference is degree.

They brought me here in chains.
They brought you here
willing slaves to man.
You.
Shiploads of women,
each filled with hope that she might win
with ruby lip
and saucy curl
and bright and flashing eye him, to wife who had the largest tender.
Remember?

And they sold you here
even as they sold me.
there is no room for mockery.
If they counted my teeth,

My sisters,
they did appraise your thigh.
Sold you to the highest bidder the same as I.
And you did not fight for your right to choose whom you would wed.
But for whatever bartered price
that was the legal tender, you were sold to a stranger's bed
in a stranger land.
Remember?
And you did not fight.
Mind you, I speak not mockingly,
but I fought for freedom;

I'm fighting now for our unity.
We are women all.
And what wrongs you
murders me . . .
eventually marks your grave.
So we share a mutual death
at the hand of tyranny.

They trapped me with the chain,
the gun.
They trapped you with lying tongue
for, lest you see that fault,
that villainy,
that robbed you of name, voice, and authority, that murderous greed that wasted you and me.
He, the white supremacist, fixed your minds
with poisonous thought:
"White skin is supreme."
And therewith bought that monstrous change
exiling you to things.
Changed all that nature had in you wrought of gentle usefulness, abolishing your spring,
Tore out your heart,
set your good apart from all that you could say,
think,
feel,
know to be right
And you did not fight, but set your minds fast
on my slavery,
the better to endure your own.
It is true . . .

My pearls were beads of sweat wrung from weary body's pain.
Instead of rings upon my hands
I wore swollen, bursting veins.
My ornaments were the whiplash's scar;
My diamond, perhaps a tear.
Instead of paint and powder on my face
I wore a solid mask
of fear,
to see my blood so spilled.

And you,
women,
seeing, spoke no protest.
But cuddled down in your pink slavery and thought somehow my wasted blood confirmed your superiority.

Because your necklace was of gold,
you did not notice that it throttled speech.
Because diamond rings bedecked your hands,
you did not regret their dictated idleness.
Nor could you see that the platinum bracelets which graced your wrists were chains binding you fast to economic slavery;
and thought you claimed your husband's name,
still could not command his fidelity.

You bore him sons . . .
I bore him sons.
No, not willing.
He purchased you.
He raped me.
I fought.
But you fought neither for yourselves
nor me.
Sat trapped in your superiority and spoke no reproach consoled your outrage with an added brooch.
Oh God, how great is a woman's fear who for a stone, a cold, cold stone would not defend honor,
love nor dignity!
You bore the shaming mockery of your marriage and heaped your hate on me.
A woman too . . .
A slave more so.
And when your husband disowned his seed that was my son
and sold him apart from me,
you felt avenged.
Understand:
I was not your enemy in this.

I was not the source of your distress.
I was your friend.
I fought.
But you would not help me fight,
thinking you helped only me.
Your deceived eyes seeing only my slavery aided your own decay.
Yes they condemned me to death and they condemned you to decay.
Your heart whisked away,
consumed in hate,
used up in idleness
playing yet the lady's part,
exiled to vanity.
It is justice to you to say your fear equaled their tyranny.

You were afraid to nurse your young lest fallen breast offend your master's sight and he should flee to firmer loveliness.
So you passed them,
your children, on to me.
Flesh that was your flesh,
blood that was your blood,
drank the sustenance of life from me, and as I gave suck, I knew I nursed my own child's enemy.
I could have lied!
Told you your child was fed till it was dead of hunger.
But I could not find the heart to kill orphaned innocence.
For as it fed it smiled,
burped, and gurgled with content,
and as for color,
knew no difference.
Yes, in that first while
I kept your sons and daughters alive.
But when they grew strong in blood and bone
that was of my milk,
you taught them to hate me.

You gave them the words

"mammy" and "nigger."
So that strength that was of myself turned and spat upon me, despoiled my daughters and killed my sons.
You know I speak true,
though this is not true for all of you.

When you made your big push for freedom
my sons fought at your sons' side.
My husbands, brothers too, fell in that battle where Crispus Attucks died.
And when I bestirred myself for freedom and brave Harriet led the way,
some of you found heart,
played a part in aiding my escape.
It is unfortunate that you acted not in the way of JUSTICE!
But to preserve the Union,
and of course, for dear wet pity's sake;
else how came it to be as it is with me today?
You hated slavery, yet abhorred equality.

I would that the poor among you could have seen through the scheme and joined hands with me.
Then we, being the majority,
could long ago have rescued our wasted lives.
But NO!
The rich becoming richer could be content.
While yet, the poor had only the pretense and sought through murderous brutality to convince themselves that what was false was true.
So with KKK and fiery cross and bloody appetites set about to prove that
"white is right,"
forgetting their poverty.
Thus the white supremacists used your skins to perpetuate your slavery.
And woe to me.

Woe to the boy Emmett Till.
And woe to you!

It is no mistake that your naked bodies on the calendars.
announce the fatal dates.
This is what they plan for you.
This is the depravity they would reduce you to.
Death for me,
and worse than death for you.

What will you do?
Will you fight with me?
White supremacy is your enemy and mine.
So be careful when you talk with me;
remind me not of my slavery;
I know it well.
But rather tell me of your own.
Remember, you have never known me.
you've been seeing me as white supremacy would have me be.
But I will be myself —

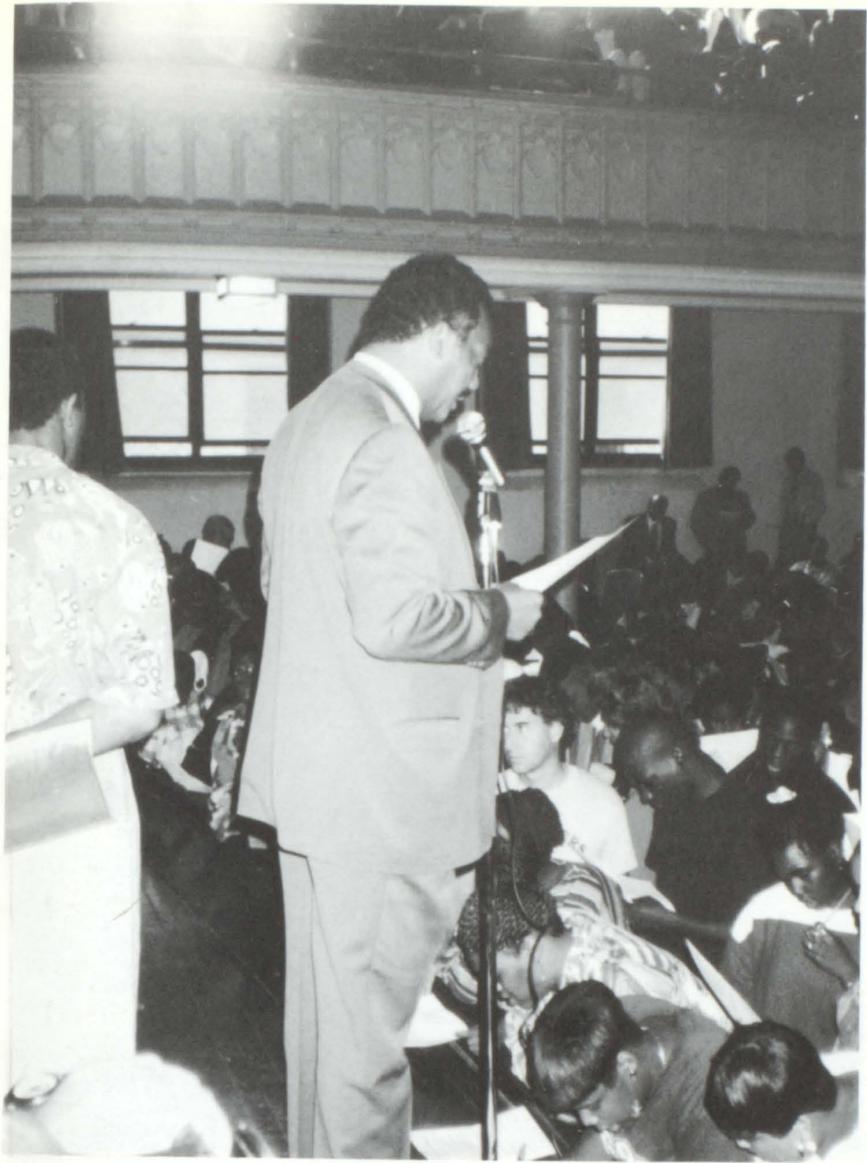

FREE!
JUSTICE!
PEACE!
PLENTY!
for every MAN WOMAN
CHILD
who walks the earth!
This is my fight.
If you will fight with me, then take my hand, that our land may come at last to be a place of peace and human equality.

Rev. Jessie Jackson visits Malcolm X Shabazz.

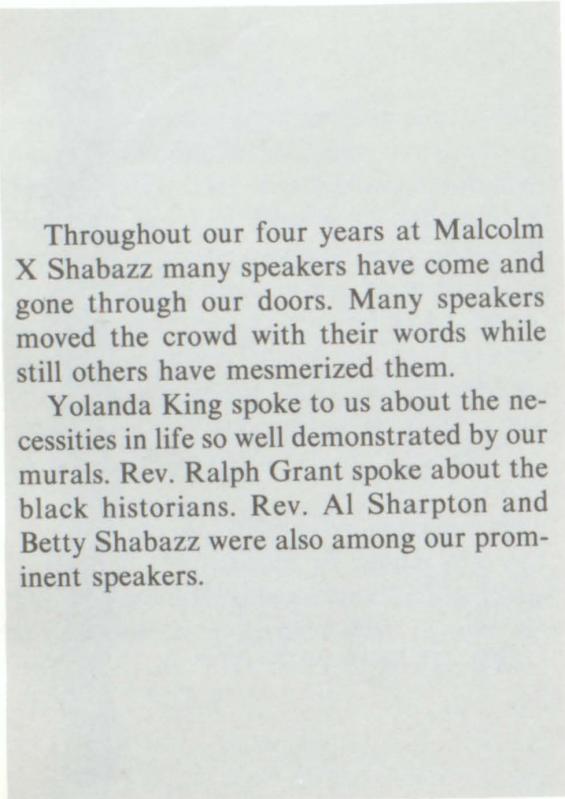

Many speakers have come to our school, but none remain on our minds like the Rev. Jessie Jackson. He was a charismatic and eloquent speaker. This man delivered a speech that made everyone want to stand up and take notice. When he entered he made our auditorium resound with a thunderous applause. During his oath people who normally sit quietly during assemblies, repeated every word he said. During his prayer, everyone shouted an 'AMEN'.

All in all, this man gave a speech that electrified a generation of people who are known for not listening to adults. The man, the mesmerizing speaker was, is, and always will be THE ESTEEMED REV. JESSIE JACKSON.

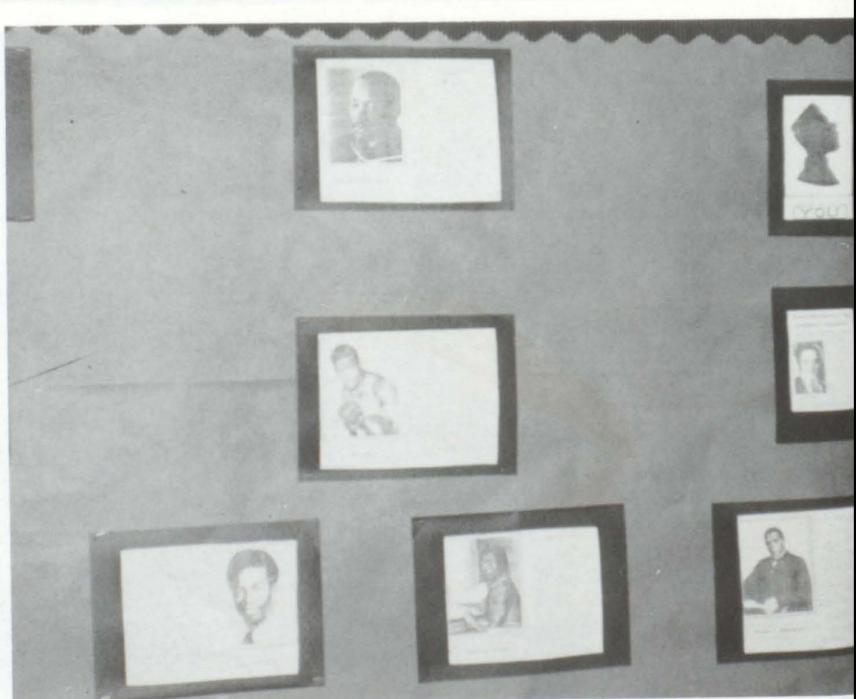

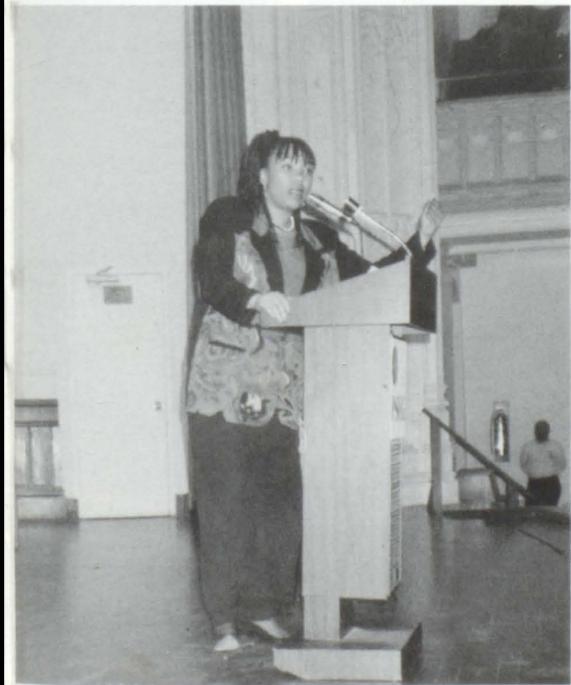

Words with Meaning

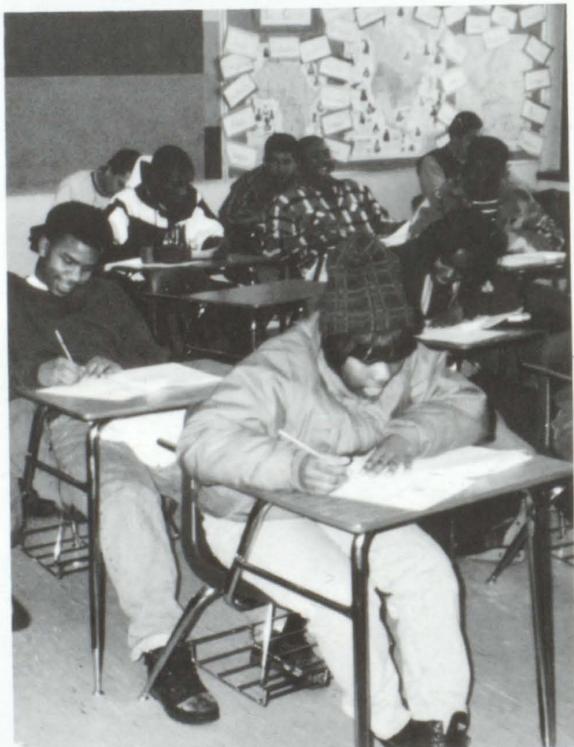

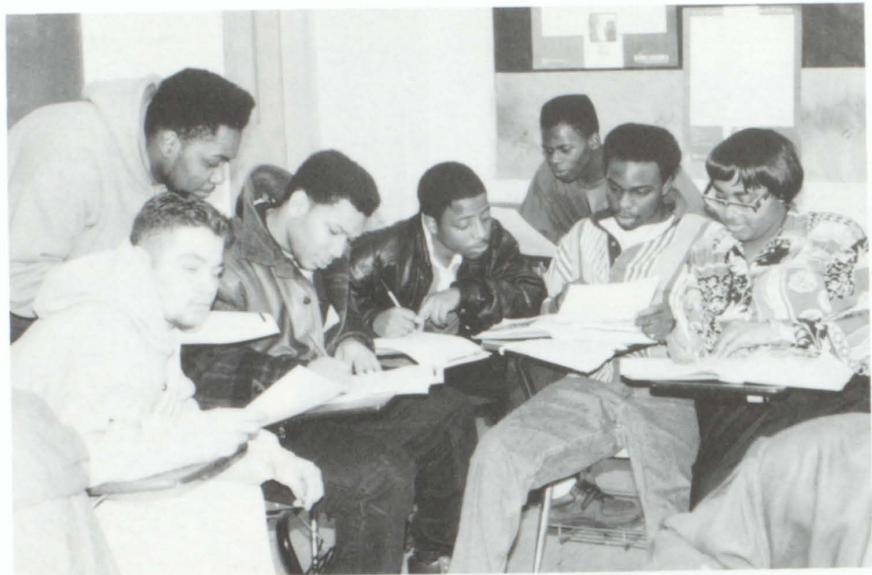

Throughout our four years at Malcolm X Shabazz many speakers have come and gone through our doors. Many speakers moved the crowd with their words while still others have mesmerized them.

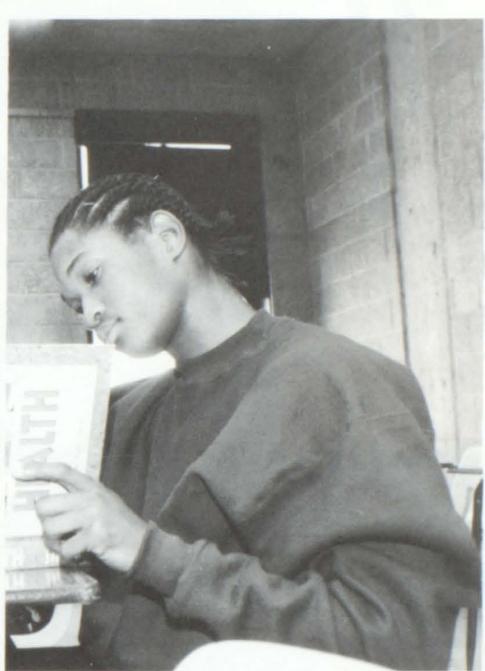

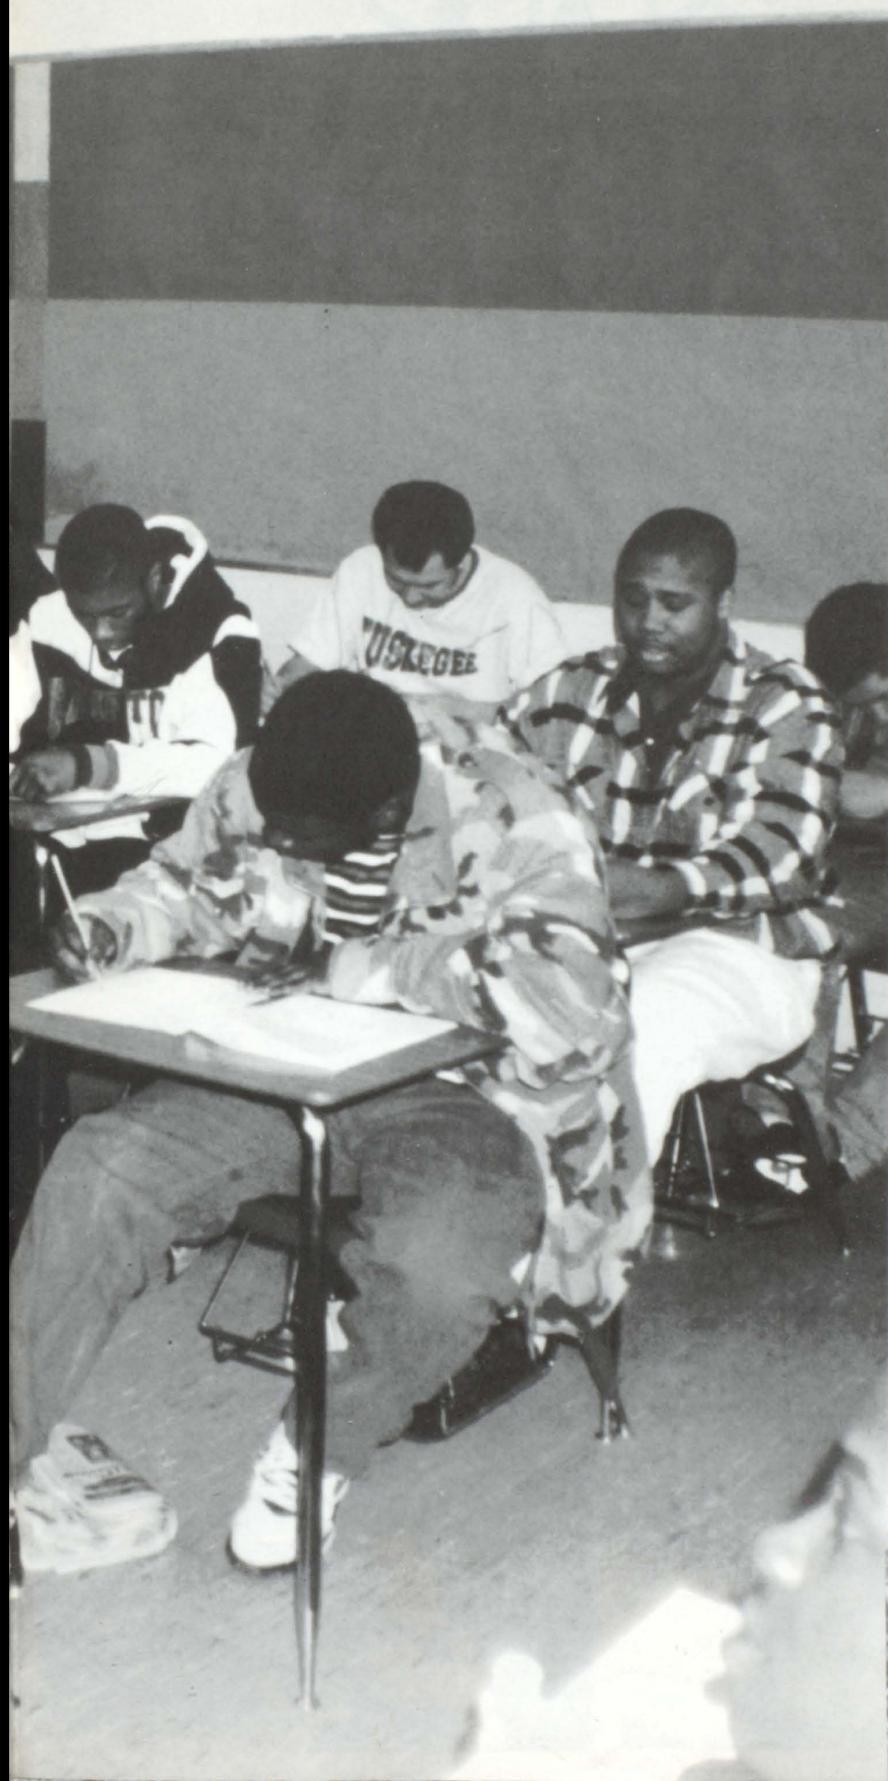

Yolanda King spoke to us about the necessities in life so well demonstrated by our murals. Rev. Ralph Grant spoke about the black historians. Rev. Al Sharpton and Betty Shabazz were also among our prominent speakers.

PRINCIPAL

Mary G. Bennett

To the Class of 1994:

It has been a challenge and a privilege to serve as your principal. I ask that as you venture out into the world after graduation be prepared. Brace yourself for what lies ahead. Try to remember those lessons that stressed decision-making skills whenever you are confronted with difficult choices. Pause to think about what you should do and say before you act.

I will not say that what lies ahead will be easy; however, I sincerely believe you are capable and you will be successful in whatever you choose to do.

Remember, you come from the home of the Mighty Bulldogs, and tenacity and perseverance are key characteristics of the Mighty Bulldog! Those who use these two strengths well achieve great things.

Best wishes,

Mary G. Bennett

What are YOU doing in MY office? Mrs. Mincey runs a tight ship, and no one gets by her to bother Mrs. Bennett.

Besides the classroom teachers and administrators, there are many other people who make Shabazz work. They include our cafeteria staff, who do their utmost to ensure that nourishing meals are served every day, the custodial staff, who struggle at the seemingly endless task of keeping the school clean, the security staff, who respond to daily challenges while keeping us safer, and the aides who help in the Main Office, Guidance, and other areas.

Our cafeteria staff consists of Ann Masino, Carolyn Brown, Mary Clark, Edward Ford, Barbara Johnson, Gloria Gorham, Evelyn King, Sallie McDonald, Joyce Pitts, Betty Robinson, Cynthia Smith, Alice Williams, Minnie Wilkins, and Viola Wright. The "Senior" member of the Cafeteria staff is Mrs. Mavis Shipman, who was honored at this year's Alumni Day assembly for over twenty years of service here at Shabazz.

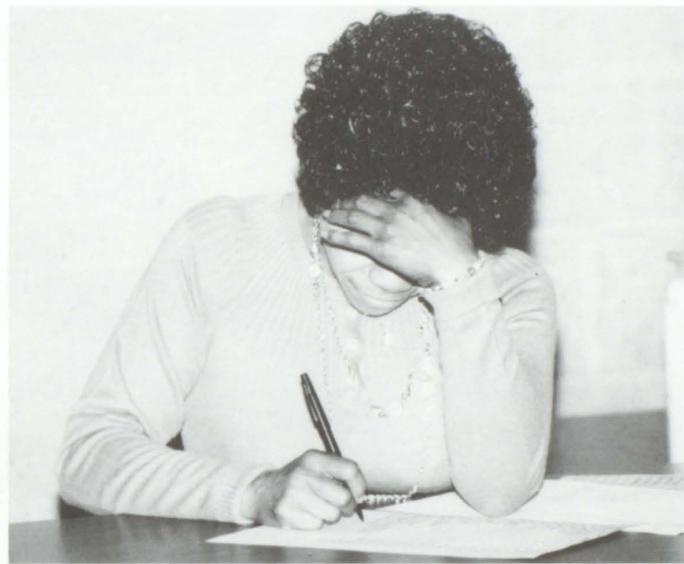

Our Custodial staff is divided into two shifts. The day custodians, headed by Mr. Harold Hines, our Chief Custodian, includes Anita Cobbs, Isaiah Donaldson, Lavern Paige, Maude Swint, Katherind Washington, and Curtis White. The night custodians, with Mr. Sam Dunbar in charge, are Watson Barbery, Clement Calkins, William Crawford, Rufus Edmundo, Malcolm Evans, Doris Lane, Willie Ryan, Donal Thomas, and Sidney Young.

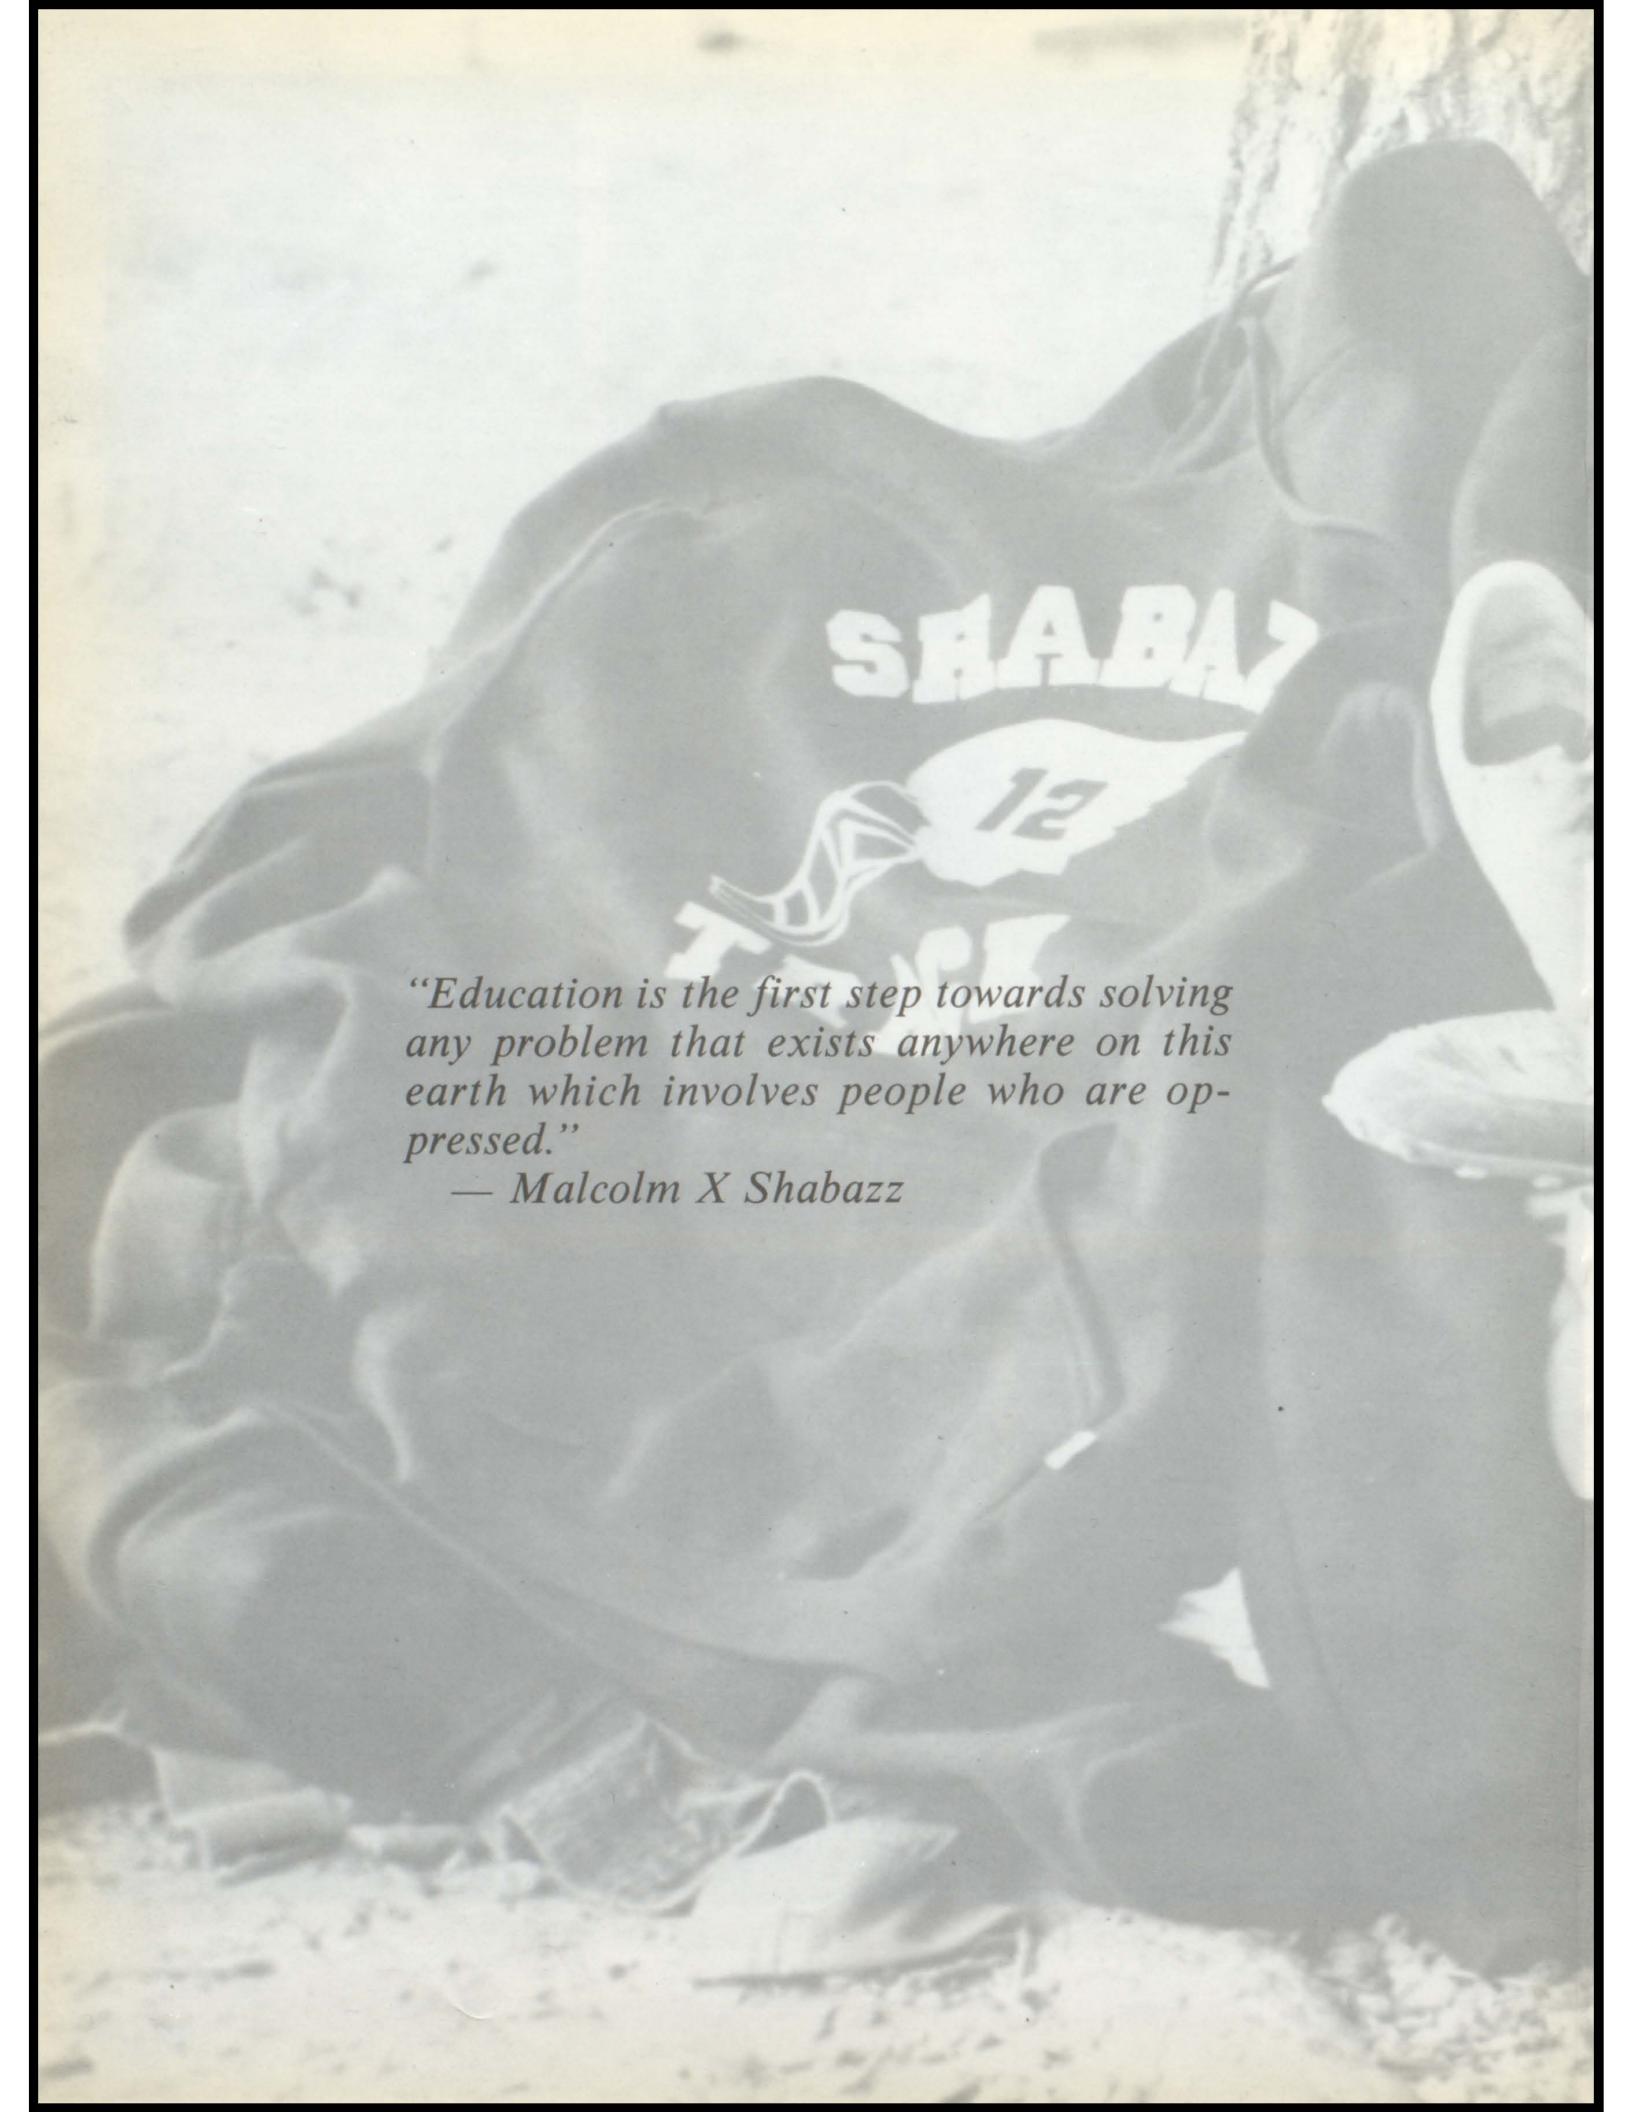

Security staff consists of Norma Archie-Thomas, who has been ill this year, Kevin Jackson, Addie Porter, Brenda Riley, John Sharpless, and Catherine White.

Aides include Robin Buie, Florina Frost, Lillie Hubbard, Cassandra Suggs, and Elvira Murphy. Annie Thomas also works in the main office.

We should also mention our Child Study Team, who work to help many students with a variety of problems. The team includes Betty Cronin, Karen Guilmartin, Stephanie Lenchiner, and Eulon Gray, our social worker.

PROFILE

The two men accused of beating truck driver Reginald Denny during the L.A. riots were acquitted of attempted murder charges. At the trial, Denny proved that "to forgive is divine" by embracing the mothers of his attackers. • "Suicide Doctor" Jack Kevorkian was arrested again for assisting in the suicides of terminally ill patients. After going on a hunger strike, he was released on bail. • As only the second woman to be appointed, Ruth Bader Ginsburg joins the U.S. Supreme Court. • The father of basketball sensation Michael Jordan was found dead floating in the Gump Swamp Creek near Bennettsville, South Carolina.
